HOPEWELL LANDS BIG STEEL PLANT

Semi-Official Announcement of $2,000,000 Industry For City

OTHERS ARE COMING

Business Leaders "Prepare for Peace" and Are Confident of the Future of the Place.

Hard on the heels of an official announcement of the Du Pont Company warning against overspeculation in real estate in the vicinity of Hopewell, reminding the public that there would probably be a drastic curtailment of the working forces at the company's plants following the close of the war in Europe, came the semi-official announcement last night of the location of a $2,000,000 steel plant on the James River just below City Point, and the almost certain location of another large manufacturing enterprise in the immediate vicinity of Hopewell.

J. E. Cuthbert, of Petersburg, who assembled the various parcels of land for the Du Pont Company, on which its Hopewell plant is located, authorized the definite statement last night that there would be other plants located at Hopewell in its scheme of "preparedness for peace." One had been secured, he asserted, and the others are on the way, but the details as to the nature of the enterprises and the number to be employed, he said, must be announced by the companies themselves.

The Du Pont announcement met with a varying reception among Hopewell, Petersburg and Richmond business men interested in the new development. It was regarded by some as merely a friendly warning to the unthinking of a condition which all well-informed men knew from the beginning of the war orders.

Hopewell business men have been "preparing for peace", for months, and a committee of the Chamber of Commerce has been in active correspondence with many interests with a view of securing other large industries which would be attracted by the water and railroad facilities and other opportunities. Especially it is desired to secure a variety of small industries in which could be employed the various members of families of Du Pont workmen who do not care to work within the guncotton plant.

Petersburg, Va., April 4—A largely attended meeting of business men of Petersburg and Hopewell was held last night at the Stratford Hotel, for the purpose of taking action in reference to the official statement of E. I. du Pont de Nemours and Co., of Wilmington, Del., that after the European war, its force at the Hopewell plant would be greatly curtailed, and discussing the probable effect of Hopewell. Both Petersburg and Hopewell were represented by many of their prominent business men. Intense interest was manifested, and many brief addresses were delivered, while the incidental announcement that the erection of a $2,000,000 steel plant had been practically assured for Hopewell brought prolonged applause.

TO BEAT DOWN GASOLINE

Inventors Declare Substitute of Equal Power Can be Produced at 6 Cents a Gallon.

Washington, April 4—A substitute for gasoline, equal in energy-producing qualities, which can be sold at 6 cents a gallon and which can be produced in unlimited quantities has been discovered by two Pittsburgh men, with whom Government experts are now making arrangements for a thorough demonstration in Washington within a short time.

The inventors are the Rev. R. J. C. McKnight, of Pittsburg, and Guy Barber, an expert mechanic, Several members of Congress have been advised of Dr. McKnight's claims, and those who personally know him believe he has developed a product which will cut the props from under the gasoline monopoly with its high prices. Dr. McKnight says he and his partner intend to give their invention to the country in a form whereby the benefits will not accrue to a few wealthy men, but to the men who depend upon gasoline for motor power.

In order to use the gasoline substitute in automobible a special apparatus must be attached to the engines. According to the inventors, a machine costing $10,000 will fill about 2,000 containers in a 10 hour day, or the equivalent of 300 miles. The material and labor of this machine would cost about $250 a day.

CARDINALS WIN AGAIN

The Cardinal A. C. baseball team yesterday defeated the Holy Name team of the Church League of Washington. The visitors showed want of practice, nevertheless, they had a bunch of fine ball players in the line up who will give a good account of themselves before the season closes. "Smiling" Jim Sweeney was in the box for the Cardinals and did not allow a hit or run during the five innings he was on the mound. McBride behind the bat grabbed all the offerings in his territory in fine style. Purly, Giovannetti, and Kid Devers were the three bright lights of the game. Cudmore, on second, Tommy O'Donnell, the lightning like left fielder, rapped the ball for two bases in the second inning, scoring Cudmore and Owens. Dick Snowden in center field was at home in that position and also had a safety to his credit. Old Reliable Joe Owens in the right field position played well, while Tommy Sillex, the young receiver of the Cardinals finished the game in a creditable manner.

For the Holy Name team Marx, Sterzen, Fitzgerald, Giebel, Dillon, Noone, Lynne, Brown and Booker player well.

Carter, a veterinarian of this city, and Miss Elizabeth Bisbing, of Springfield township were instantly killed last night at the Reading Railway crossing in Flourtown. The automobile in which they were riding on the Bethlehem pike was struck by a freight train. As both were killed, it can only be guessed as to what occurred to cause the tragedy.

BLAZE IN LONDON POWDER FACTORY

Two Hundred Reported Killed or Injured in the Disaster

TERMED 'ACCIDENTAL'

German Zeppelins Said to Have Caused Disastrous Conflagration in British Capital.

London, April 4—Two hundred persons have been killed or injured in a fire in a powder factory in the county of Kent, it was officially announced today.

The fire broke out at the end of last week, though official announcement was withheld until today.

It was accompanied by a series of explosions lasting for two hours, and of such violence that the sounds were heard in London.

The official statement said that the fire was of accidental origin.

Washington, April 4—The German admiralty, in a report on the Zeppelin raid of last Friday night, asserted that fires were started in several munition factories near London.

None of the localities mentioned in the German statement, however, were in the county of Kent, which adjoins London on the southeast.

"BENTZTOWN BARD" CHARMS.

Pleasing Entertainment is Given at Westminster Building Last Night.

Last evening's entertainment given by the board of managers of the Free Kindergarten was a most enjoyable affair. Alexandria enjoyed for the first time the Bentztown Bard, in person, Mr. Folger McKinsey. Mr. McKinsey possesses that wonderful genius of intermingling humor with pathos which appeals so deeply to the hearts of his listeners.

He took his hearers on a dream-trip back to childhood days, to an old-fashioned town, where bloomed in the old-fashioned gardens, old-fashioned flowers and where grew the little old-fashioned boys and girls, who patronized the "Candy-stick Shop," with its ginger cookies and peppermin drops." "All the types of childhood were there from the small chap who wondered how his mother could always tell when he went in swimming, after he had planned so many subterfuges and the little boy who let the "bad-words," slip off of his tongue and the tattle-tale boy, and all of the familiar types even old "Banty-legs," was there who looked like he had 'straddled a drum"—then down farther on the maple-tree bordered street one found some of the dear little girls of childhood days and one felt sad to leave the "Rose of the old Regime."

The musical program was a treat also. Miss Kast gave a violin solo. The vocal solos were rendered by Mrs. Harrie White, Mrs. Sherman Fowler, Mrs. Whitman, Miss Polkinhorn, and Mr. Whitman. Mr. and Mrs. Whitman closed the program with a duet. Mr. Sherman Fowler was the accompanist and the program was a series of artistically and sweetly rendered sleections.

Albert J. Oakley, 64 years old, one of the best-known men in the eastern suburbs of Richmond, killed himself late Saturday afternoon, by firing a bullet into his brain. Members of the family could assign no reason for the act.

Aviator H. Cogwell and James Honor, of the Curtis Aviation School fell 100 feet into Hampton Roads, while making a flight Sunday at Newport News, They escaped uninjured, though the machine was demolished, Stoppage of the engine while the machine was turning is said to have caused the accident.

Sheriff Webb Sydnor and three deputies left Petersburg, yesterday in an automobile with John Williams the negro held for a serious crime in Nottoway. Williams is the negro charged with assaulting Miss Mamie Mason fifteen years old, of Nottoway county. He will be kept in Henrico jail until his trial.

E. I. DuPont de Nemours and Co. announce that a plant of moderate capacity for making commercial explosives would be established on York River, near the city of Williamsburg. The company stated that the plant would employ in the neighborhood of two hundred men, and declared that no land boom in the section was justified by the development of its plans there.

Mayor Royston Jester, of Lynchburg, issued a proclamation yesterday requiring all dogs to be confined for 30 days, a precaution against the epidemic of hydrophobia among dogs in the city. In the last four weeks 12 rabid dogs were killed by the police of Lynchburg. Steps will be taken to kill all dogs found in the streets, and this will probably rid the city of all its horde of homeless curs.

The Harrisonburg Daily News-Record has announced that Harrisonburg's long newspaper fight is ended, and that the News-Record has passed into the hands of the Rockingham Publishing Company, former publishers of the old Daily Record, of which former Senator George B. Keezel and H. W. Bertram were the principal owners. Bertram is editor and G. W. Lineweaver managing editor under the new regime.

Members of the Virginia division of the International Typographical Union will meet in Newport News on Sunday, April 9, to discuss plans for having the eastern home of the order built in Virginia. The committee will also meet to discuss the State printery. A committee is to be appointed to interview Thomas F. Ryan to see if he will give a tract of land in Nelson county for the home in case the union decides to build in this State.

The entire estate of the late Judge John Handley, of Scranton, Pa., valued at upwards of $2,000,000 will probably be sold in the near future by his executors and the proceeds turned over to the city of Winchester for educational purposes, as provided for in his will. Judge Handley died about twenty-one years ago. He directed that his estate be held in trust for twenty years, then sold and the receipts given to the board of trustees of the Handley fund of Winchester for the erection and maintenance of industrial schools and the Handley Library.

The little town of Grottoes, Rockingham county, is stirred over a poison mystery. Saturday, Miss Lillie Kyger, daughter of Bud Kyger, received a box of chocolate drops through the mail. The package was plainly addressed and on a card in the box was a slip of paper bearing the words "April Fool." Her sister, Miss Cora Kyger, 14 years old, was made desperately ill by eating two of the drops and yesterday her condition was still serious. Miss Lillie Kyger herself spit out the candy on account of the bitter taste and was not made so ill. It is believed that the candy contains strychnine. The sheriff today sent the chocolate drops to Richmond, where they will be analyzed by the State chemist. The young woman who received the candy is 17 years old and it is believed that she can direct the authorities to the sender.

FRENCH REOCCUPY PART OF VILLAGE

Drive Germans Back to Northern Outposts of the Woods

POUR FLANKING FIRE

Teutons Occupy Positions North of Forges Brook, Between Bethincourt and Haucourt.

Haing straightened their line by occupying all French positions north of Forges brook, between Haucourt and Bethincourt, northwest of Verdun the Germans now are engaged in shelling the region four miles northwest of the fortress.

East of the Meuse, around Vaux, there has been considerable fighting in which the French were victorious in driving back the Teutons to the northern outposts of the Caillette wood, and in reoccupying the western part of the village of Vaux, which they previously had evacuated. The occupation by the Germans of the Haucourt-Bethincourt front followed a vigorous attack in which, however, no foe was met, the French having evacuated their positions at night without being observed. From their new positions south of Forges brook and at Bethincourt, the French poured a direct and flanking fire into the attacking Germans, who suffered heavy casualties.

Along the remainder of the French fronts, artillery bombardments have predominated, although there have been aerial combats near Verdun, in which the Germans lost four aeroplanes, and aerial raids by the French on various German cantonments in Belgium.

Artillery duels between Russians and Germans continue on the eastern front. An attack by the Germans against the bridgehead at Ikskull was repulsed by the Russians. The usual bombardments are in progress on the Austro-Italian line.

Constantinople reports that the Turks, strongly re-enforced, have checked the Russian offensive in the Caucasus region, and that the Ottoman forces have made advances in the Tchoruk valley. Petrograd, however, asserts the Russians seized heavily fortified Turkish positions at an altitude of 10,000 feet on the upper Tchoruk, and farther south captured a Turkish position and dispersed Turkish cavalry detachments.

In Arabia, according to Constantinople, the British near Sheikh Osman were driven from fortified positions with heavy casualties and forced to retreat.

The sinking by a Turkish submarine in the Black Sea on March 30 of a 12,000-ton Russian transport with troops aboard is reported by the War Office. It was on March 30 that the Russian hospital ship Portugal was torpedoed and sunk in the Black Sea.

Petrograd, April 4—The Russian War Office communication issued yesterday says:

"After 90 minutes' preparation by gusts of heavy and light artillery, the Germans attacked the bridgehead at Ikskull, but were repulsed. In the region of Dvinsk and south of it there have been artillery duels. There has been great activity by the enemy artillery on many sectors.

"During the German offensive described yesterday in the region north of Barinovichi station, the enemy fired explosive bullets. In the region of Liakovitchi, Sunday morning, a considerable body of Germans, having crossed the Shara River, launched an attack on our posts but were repulsed.

"There has been great activity by the enemy aviators in the Poliessie region. The floods continue.

"Caucasus front: In the course of our offensive we passed the watershed of the Upper Tohoruk River, and seized strongly fortified mountain positions 10,000 feet above the sea level, taking prisoner a company of Turks. In the course of the pursuit of the enemy in the region of the Sourbkarpet convent we captured a Turkish camp, with tents and shelters and a store of arms. Southeast of Mush, in the region of the village of Mahboubouk, our detachments dispersed parties of Turkish cavalry."

SEEK EXCUSE FOR FAILURE.

Germans Will Continue Operations Until Show Creditable Gains On Field.

Paris, April 4.—The following explanation of the Verdun battle is written by one of Europe's greatest military critics, whose position as an unprejudiced neutral in the Buffer State of Switzerland afford him special opportunity for obtaining reliable news both from the Germans and French:

Amidst all the conflicting accounts of the happenings at Verdun, one thing is certain, that is, that the German staff miscalculated the amount of resistance they would have to overcome to capture the town.

At the same time the staff knows the extent of its error, what its costs have been, and what measures it will still be able to take. It tells the public nothing about this, but in order to maintain public confidence, it has used three arguments:

First, an appeal for confidence in the staff on the basis of previous victories:

Second, rousing statements as to the amount of ground gained and the number of prisoners taken.

Employing the theoretical calculation that five men are put out of action for every prisoner taken, the German staff says that, having captured 30,000 Frenchmen, France's losses at Verdun total 180,000. However, neutral countries must not accept these figures; they are merely reached by mathematical calculation in Berlin without taking into consideration the character of the fighting at Verdun.

The third argument used by the German staff is that the Verdun battle was not meant to be a decisive affair, but was designed to forestall the allies offensive.

The truth is that Germany first tried to carry Verdun with one sudden overwhelming blow. She failed and now Germany seeks victory by methodical attacks.

Both of these phases necessitate the use of too many effectives, too great an expenditure of munitions and cover too widespread a field of maneuver for the Verdun offensive to be anything but a vastly important affair undertaken by Germany with a decisive object in view.

The staff plan, probably, was not only to capture Verdun with a sudden blow, but immediately afterward to strike all along the western front, so as to put the French and British armies out of action and force peace.

The check of the Germans at Verdun is not limited to this one campaign, but is the check of a maneuver that was intended to be decisive.

The German staff will not end the Verdun action until it has exhausted all its resources for gaining what may pass for success in Germany. Hence the attack on the Mort Homme salient. If Germany can seize this salient and if she still has sufficient reserves to build up another massive army of assault, she may make another general attack on the fortress from the semicircular line she has been drawing round it for the past six weeks.

THREE KILLED IN PISTOL DUEL

Moultrie, Ga., April 4. — W. M. Logan, a Moultrie merchant, Jack Calhoun and Cleve Calhoun, brothers were killed in a pistol fight in a barn near here late Sunday. A note found in Logan's clothes gave directions for the disposition of his body and what he wished to be done with his two small sons.

Logan and the Calhouns met Sunday morning to discuss, it is reported difficulties between them arising over the alleged attention of the Calhouns toward a member of Logan's family. They agreed to meet again for a walk in the afternoon, but were driven into the barn by a heavy shower. E. L. Evans was with them. Evans said yesterday that just as they were to leave the barn Logan fired five shots, killing Jack and wounding Cleve. The latter mortally wounded, drew his pistol, fired five times and killed Logan.

Mrs. Louis Frederick Bruce, well known in social circles in Norfolk, was instantly killed Sunday evening when she accidentally knocked a pistol from a shelf of her clothes' closet. The ball entered Mrs. Bruce's breast, reaching a vital spot and causing instantaneous death.

U. S. TROOPS ON VILLA'S TRAIL

Approaching Durango State Line, South of Chihuahua

WOULD KILL BANDIT

Proposals Made to Bring Earthly Career of Fugitive to a Close for Sum of $50,000

El Paso, Tex., April 4—American troops today are reported approaching the Durango state line, south of Chihuahua City, on Villa's trail.

Their swift advance has surprised border officials. On Friday Colonel Dodd's cavalry column appeared at San Antonio, near Cusihuihirachic. Villa, then, with only eight men, was reported to have passed through Satevo, about fifty miles south of the American vanguard.

He is said to be fleeing for his old haunts in the Durango mountains.

El Paso, Tex., April 4—Two men intimately associated with Villa have made propositions to Mexican officials in the last six weeks to kill the bandit leader for money.

This information was given out by Andreas C. Garcia, consul general of the Carranze government here.

Another development of importance is the report that Villa, unwounded, and accompanied by only eight men, was at Satevo, fifty miles south of Chihuahua City, two days ago. He is believed to have outwitted his American pursuers.

One of the men who offered to assassinate the outlaw was Villa's cook. The other was an officer who was a member of the bandit's personal escort. Each proposed to guarantee the death of Villa for $25,000.

Garcia put the proposition up to the high officials of the constitutionalist government. They turned it down, because, as badly as they wanted Villa out of the way, they did not wish to bring dishonor to Gen. Venustiano Carranza by plotting assassination.

GERMAN GIRLS ARRESTED

Sentenced to Imprisonment for Killing French Prisoners

Munich, April 4—Two pretty girls, Elizabeth Dietrich and Magdalene Steinert, of Ramberg, have been sentenced to four and two weeks imprisonment, because they fell in love with French soldiers in the prison camp at Landau.

The girls, who are still in their teens, repeatedly visited the camp and made the acquaintance of two of the prisoners. The acquaintance ripened into love and recently the girls were surprised by a guard while permitting themselves to be kissed by their imprisoned French lovers. The maidens were warned that they had rendered themselves liable to punishment under the special law forbidding all intercourse with prisoners of war, but they indignantly replied:

"Why should we not love the Frenchmen? They are nice and honest and will marry us. After the war we shall go to Paris.

Despite their protest the girls were arrested for disorderly conduct. At their trial they insisted that they had a natural right to love even an enemy but the court called them "unpatriotic," and "shameless," and sentenced them to twenty-eight and fourteen days imprisonment, although the public prosecutor had only demanded jail terms of seven and five days.

TELEPHONE CORD INSIDE.

A brand new feature of the telephone instrument recently patented makes use of the base of the instrument as a means of disposing of the cord by which the receiver is connected. This cord is often a source of nuisance. Occasionally it is the cause of serious damage to the installation, for the cord becomes entangled in one's clothing, and in this manner it is dashed to the floor and the efficiency of the instrument imaired.

This new way of disposing of the cord is to reel it up on a spring roller in the bottom of the stand, which is made slightly larger in order to accommodate the necessary mechanism The cord is readily drawn out as far as desired when one wants to make a call and is drawn back on the spring-propelled roller hidden in the stand. The invention is the work of Geo. P. Munday, secretary to Senator Swanson, and well known in this city.

DEMOCRATIC PRIMARY

Election for Mayor and Councilmen Will probably Bring Out Large Vote.

Despite the legarthy that preceded the Democratic primary for mayor and members of the city council, equivalent in the Democratic stronghold of Alexandria City to an election, the greatest interest has been manifested today and the polls have been surrounded by workers for the candidates while a strong vote has been polled. Indications point to the fact that the full Democratic vote of nearly 1800 ballots will be cast and that the result will be close with the result in favor of Mayor Thomas A. Fisher, the incumbent over James M. Duncan. Both candidates have made a strong canvass in the last few days and both claim that they will be elected by substantial majorities.

In three wards of the city there is no contest for councilmanic honors but in the second ward there is a three cornored race the candidates being R. D. Brumback, Henry K. Field and Jerome Kaufmann.

The polls opened this morning at 5:41 o'clock and will close tonight at 6:25 o'clock.

The number of votes cast in the four wards at 3 o'clock this afternoon was as follows:

First Ward	261
Second Ward	290
Third Ward	319
Fourth Ward	291
Total	1161

QUARTERS ARE SECURED

Former Fairfax School and Colored Sunday School Building Will Be Used.

A regular monthly meeting of the City School Board was held last night in Lee school building. The session lasted two hours.

There were present: P. M. Bradshaw, chairman, and Messrs. Kirk, Cox, Pierce, Anderson, Perry, Colvin, Lunt, Howard, Monroe and Thompson and city Superintendent Sweeney.

Nearly all the business disposed of was of a general nature, the only matter outside the ordinary having been the question of securing accommodations for the scholars of Snowden school, colored, whose building was destroyed by fire on Monday, the 27th ultimo.

Mr. Perry, chairman of the committee on school houses and furniture stated that the committee had inspected a number of buildings in the city for the purpose of selecting temporary quarters for the pupils of the school, and had concluded that the school building on south Washington street recently purchased by the city after that part of Fairfax county had been annexed to Alexandria, could be utilized by two classes, and that the building on the northeast corner of Wilkes and Royal streets, formerly used as a Sunday school by St. Mary's Church for colored pupils could be procured. Both buildings need slight alterations for the purposes of the school board. The sessions of the school will be resumed within the next few days.

By a unanimous vote it was agreed to request the committee to carry out their purposes.

After the transaction of some routine business the board adjourned.

SAID SHE WAS "KIDDING"

Mrs .Lucille Phillips, aged 20, of Bunker Hill, Kans., is under arrest at Kansas City, Mo., as the result of the story of a murder plot she told her schoolmate, Miss Nona Riley. Mrs Phillip's story was of a plan for her sweetheart to kill her elderly husband either Saturday or Sunday. She was to give him $20,000, and after the excitement of the murder died down they were to be married. Mrs. Phillips is the wife of David Phillips aged 68. The two have been married one year. The young wife admits she told the story, but says that the tale was invented to "kid" her friend.

SWATTING OF GOSSIP.

The Order of Corinthians is an organization of self supporting women in New York city for the swatting of gossip, the deleting of the unnecessary word, the suppression of the cutting inunendo that either precedes or follows the kindly greeting and Judas kiss which none but a woman can successfully bestow upon her dearest enemy.

The Order of Corinthians has originated in the right place. The motto of the society, taken from among the caustic remarks of St. James, to the effect that the tongue is an unruly member, will be subscribed to in the abstract.

Irvin Cobb asserted that he could write 5,000 words about a peanut shell. Congressman have uttered many more on subjects fully as dry and empty, and then had the speeches printed in pamphlet form and sent to their constituents. Just why they didn't come back next term is to them still a matter of profound and unexplainable mystery.

The use of unecessary words in stating a proposition is a tax upon the patience of busy people. The greatest lessons ever taught the human race were in epigrammatic sentences. A proverb, fable or a suggestive cartoon is mighty and of more force than volumes or elongated speeches. But verbosity is a human failing ,and the victims of persons suffering from cacoethes loquendi have the sincerest sympathy of the class who are of few words, but those to the point.

The elder Snowden, who for many years presided over the sanctum of the Gazette, insisted that those associated with him use as few words as possible in their productions. He was an adept in the art of "boiling down", and correspondents were often chagrined when articles which had cost them much mid-night oil appeared in print, freed from useless verbage, but substantially what they desired to state.

During the civil war, and after the Gazette office had been destroyed by Federal soldiers, the size of the paper was somewhat contracted. While the publication of then a leading proposition, the object of the proprietor was to keep a record of the happenings of those stirring days. It was necessary to abbreviate everything that entered its columns. There was a department headed "Multum in Parvo"—much in little, in which mention of all important events appeared. Thousands of busy people, minus the time to read everything in extenso, kept up with current events as given in that department.

The remarkable power of condensation wielded by Biblical writers has ever struck the thoughtful reader. No unnecessary words are used, but short sentences are as X-rays to those who will hear.

GLORIES OF THE HEAVENS.

Collier's Weekly suggests that we are too much indoors. Even when night comes we turn up the lamp and sit within its excluding circle to read what other indoor men have written. or we go out, hastily and under cover of the street lights, to get within other walls where folks are gathered to see or hear something of what others have done in films and plays and lectures. Or we sit on a shaded porch with trees about, so that the vast encircling night is only coolness and a breeze. The stars do not get much chance at us. Thus we keep the universe away from our souls. Such living makes for pettiness of the spirit These scandalizing, gossiping little villages always live under roofs and behind blinds and curtains as if in ambush, that each inhabitant might be in wait against the reputation of the other.

Almost all of those who wrote the Bible lived in flat-roofed houses and went up on the housetop when day was done, so that the wheeling planets and the whole host of the stars were their familiars. It was in that light that they thought of man and his destiny. In this modern confusion of change we need the eternal influences—the moon etching patterns on lake and roadway, the night gleaming of the rivers, the solemn beauty of the milky way, the steadfastness of the north star. Night ought to free us from the littleness of the day's doings and lift the heart of the things that are above and beyond our days.

Philologists tell us that in ancient and now dead languages the word "man" literally means the creature that looks up in contrast to those who keep their eyes upon the earth, and from time immemorial the human race have gazed upon the blue vault of heavens and speculated. The book of Job is believed by some to have been written by Moses during the forty years he kept sheep on the backside of the desert. The Chaldean patriarch, it will be remembered, refers to great constellations upon which all generations have looked and wondered. Arcturus, Orion and the Plediades were regarded with interest by him. Later David in the book of Psalms was inspired by similar thoughts.

The Magi who visited Bethlehem over nineteen hundred years ago were star-gazers, and while the sensual Roman Empire was sleeping, unconcerned as to the movement of the heavenly bodies or the fact that the sands of that mighty nation were nearly run, a bright orb was standing over a spot which has ever since been regarded as the most interesting in the world.

STUDENTS' ULTIMATUM

A strike of the students of the Moundsville, W. Va., high school is threatened unless the faculty reinstates three juniors and one sophomore, who were suspended last week when the students refused to go to school because the morning sessions were advanced from 9 to 8:30. At a massmeeting attended by more than 200 pupils, resolutions were adopted submitting an ultimatum to the faculty declaring that unless the four students were reinstated by today a strike would be called.

While the above may be read with a smile, it shows the spirit of the times Strikes seem to be an universal epidemic, and boys, always imitating men, are contracting the fever, and, in scriptural words, "despising dominion."

It is apparent to all thinking people that it would be impossible to carry on the affair of the world without discipline. The great bulk of the population of the world are subject to others, and people of certain climes who refuse to obey the powers that be are as the descendants of Esau, running wild in the desert and shunning civilization. The parents of the progressive youths referred to above will be remiss in their duty if they attempt to uphold their offspring in defying those in authority over them.

Jonathan Wild, a cotemporary of Jack Sheppard, and who, like the noted London thief, found his way to the gallows, refused to be subject to anyone. He once said, "I'd rather be lord of a dung hill than a high private in heaven."

Thoughtless children read such classics and some are prone to be as defiant as Wild. "Children, obey your parents," is a heavenly injunction and when a man turns his children over to a school teacher it is understood that for the time being the teacher is expected to act as the parent in matters of discipline.

LYNCHERS INVADE COURTS

At the conclusion of testimony yesterday at the preliminary hearing of Oscar Martin a negro charged with attacking a white girl a mob of 500 stormed the court room in Idabel, Okla., seized the prisoner and hanged him from a back balcony of the courthouse.

Ineffectual attempts to seize the negro had been made previously. Martin was arrested Friday in connection with assault upon Edna Murphy, 13 years old, daughter of a mill employe at Bismarck, where the attack occurred. The lynching happened after all evidence had been put in and the court was engaged in considering it at the time the rush was made.

The negro may have been guilty of the crime urged against him, but the fact that a mob stands by ready to sum up the case as soon as the evidence shall have been taken and to hang the accused then and there, allowing the culprit no time in which to defend himself, note an appeal or prepare to meet his God. is a dangerous procedure. Innocent persons have occasionally been victims of mob fury.

The Richmond Times-Dispatch in referring to a case now pending in Virginia says:

Virginia will feel more comfortable, now that John Williams, the negro who has confessed to the commission of a revolting crime, of which a young girl was the victim, has been lodged in Henrico Jail. The threatening demonstration in Petersburg on Sunday afternoon and evening were alarming. Lynching was in the air, and the presence of a determined leader might have resulted in violence.

In this Commonwealth there is no excuse for lynchings, for the administration of the law in such cases is swift and impartial. When guilt is proved, punishment is certain. To supplant the orderly procedure of courts of justice with the mad vengeance and utter ferocity of a mob is for our people themselves to descend to the level of the brute.

It is satisfying to know that Williams, already on his way to the chair, is safe behind prison bars.

RIVER MINUS OF BOATS.

A writer in Harper's Magazine tells of the scarcity of boats on the Mississippi river at the present time. The iron horse has not only crippled commerce on the "Father of Waters" but the tide ebbs and flows quietly on others which in days of old were alive with commerce. The writer, among other things, says:

When in a spirit of tame adventure I started out to make an inland voyage down the Mississippi from St. Paul to New Orleans, the first fact that confronted me was that it could not be done; that the traffic on the extreme upper river was of such a fugitive and excursionlike nature that it disappeared absolutely with the first hint of coming autumn. There was the river in its best season, placidly reflecting the rich color of a glorious September day. There was plenty of water, the channel was clear, but, as a steamboat man luguBriously remarked, "It takes something more than water to run a steamboat." And that something being lacking, the boats had stopped. Along the bank they lay with their stacks canvassed over against the still far off winter snows, hauled clear of the ice that would gather later, and ready for their long sleep.

Well might the inhospitable signs on the raised stages have read, "Keep off the river," for it was strangely deserted.

While most of the steamboats lines which were in existence half a century ago on the Potomac are still in evidence, but few sailing vessels are now employed upon the river. In the olden times hundreds of such craft were kept busy transporting products from the lower counties to this port and Washington, but railroad trains have long since have taken the place of the sailing vessels and the wagon.

The British bark Bengairn has been sunk by a submarine. Part of the crew were picked up. It is stated that the vessel was not armed.

Clothing manufacturers of Glasgow Scotland, have been requested to tender bids for 250,000 yards of khaki army cloth for a neutral government. It is requested that delivery shall begin without delay.

Striking toolmakers in the plant of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company at Pittsburgh, yesterday voted to accept the company's offer of double time for Sunday work and an increase of 10 per cent. in the wage scale.

After listening to the evidence at the preliminary hearing yesterday in Idabell, Okla., of Oscar Martin, colored, charged with having attacked a 13 year old girl, a mob of several hundred men overpowered court attaches and hanged the prisoner from a second-story balcony of the courthouse.

The decapitated body of a white man found in the Western Maryland Railway yards at Hagerstown, Md., was identified as Frank McCarter by his brother, Harry McCarter, with whom he had been making his home recently. Whether McCarter was run over by a train or murdered and robbed or committed suicide could not be determined.

Edingurgh and Leith, dock establishments on the Firth of Forth, and important shipbuilding works on the Tyne were attacked in last night's Zeppelin raid over England and Scotland, the German admiralty announces. There were numerous fires and violent explosions. A battery near Newcastle was silenced. All the Zeppelins returned safely.

There is strong suspicion in official circles in Russia that the sinking in daylight of the hospital ship Portugal was a deliberate act, undertaken by a German officer for no other purpose than to embitter Russia, and to render Turkish defection impossible. The whole event takes special significance in the light of recent news from Turkey, where since the fall of Erzerum the anti-German party has been gaining ground rapidly.

Capt. William N. Donley, a noted sportsman, after shooting and slightly wounding five persons at his home at Babylon, N. Y., yesterday, was found dead when Sheriff Odell broke into the Donley home early this morning. Donley had killed himself with a shotgun. It is believed that Donley became mentally deranged through a fear that he would be sent to jail for violation of game laws.

Rioting in which a score or more persons suffered bruised heads, and more than 100 cans of milk were spilled into the roadway, was reported yesterday from northern Illinois and southern Wisconsin towns, where the dairy farmers are on strike against the distributers for a 20-cent increase in the price. The reports tonight from the various centers where the fight rages the fiercest indicate that the climax of the trouble will come Wednesday or Thursday.

Serious food riots in which at least 1,000 women and children participated, occurred in Torreon, Mexico, on March 28, Crowds rushed through the streets crying for corn. The corn meal was only obtainable at fabulous prices. From the demonstration the riot grew into general looting, Soldiers were called out, but they refused to shoot into the crowds of women and children. No one was killed during the rioting, but many buildings were badly damaged. The government took steps to distribute corn and has ordered several carloads sent to Torreon and vicinity.
